

College Readiness for High School Students - Edudaris.com

Edudaris™ is an educational networking platform with an industry-standard learning management system that interconnects students, educators, college representatives, scholarship providers, and businesses/organizations in a safe and secure environment. It provides a platform for all users to establish long-term connections and to seek professional opportunities.

Edudaris™ is an interactive, educational community which accelerates student opportunities to seek for and apply to colleges, scholarships, and professional opportunities by providing a “match” based on information from the student profile. Membership and use of the Edudaris™ educational network is completely free to all users.

This advanced system will enable high school students to engage in college readiness through career, college, and scholarship planning. Using the highly defined matching student profile indicators, opportunities are identified. Students who qualify are notified to apply. We encourage all advertisers to provide job opportunities and scholarships for high school and college students, which will build life-long brand loyalty.
