Ways Parents Can Support Their Children With These Resources

- Let your child know these self-paced interactive modules are available and work with him/her to identify any of the modules that might support specific learning needs.
- Log on to this site (txmigrantk12.net) on a tablet or computer your child can easily access. Assist by navigating to the course content to show the module choices available. Provide the printed resource materials by downloading and printing or requesting them from your district migrant recruiter.
- Encourage your child to return to the site during free time. Provide positive reinforcement for time spent on this.
- Celebrate success, especially when your child shows you a certificate has been earned!!

Migratory Parents and Families

Welcome to the Education Resources portal designed specifically to help meet the needs of migratory families in Texas. The Education Resources for Parents of K-12 Migratory Children portal will provide you and your family with education resources that can immediately be used with your child—no matter where you may be!

The resources are being developed in phases over the next few years. Currently, there are reading and writing resources available for students from Kindergarten through Grade 12. There are also resources to support out-of-school youth and math resources for students in Kindergarten through Grade 2. Additional math resources will be added each year. Math resources for Grades 3-5 will be added in Fall 2024.

In Texas, contact your local Migrant Recruiter if you need assistance acquiring any of the materials referenced within the mini-lessons or flip sheets.

Note to Parents

The resources for grades 3-5 are intended for you to use with your child.

Mini-Lessons provide interactive activities that you can lead and guide your child through to support the development of reading and writing skills. Any suggested charts or worksheets are included. Some mini-lessons may require you to gather a few additional materials ahead of time.

Tip Sheets offer guidance directly to you with additional helpful information and links to short videos of a parent working with a child and demonstrating the tip in action.

The App is available for download to a tablet that the child has access to so he or she can play the games independently. Games on the app provide additional practice with the same reading and writing skills.
